On February 16, 2006, the Board of Realty Regulation adopted rules requiring all continuing education instructors or their designee to report licensee attendance at approved continuing education offerings to the board within 20 days of the course offering. Instructors or their designee must report all education attendance (using the licensee's license number) in a format approved and provided by the board. The approved format is a web-based reporting program located on the Internet at www.ContinuingEd.mt.gov. The instructor or their designee must enter the course event dates in the web-based reporting program. This will allow licensees to view course offerings online. The course dates must also be entered before roster information can be entered.

Please note you are still required to provide a certificate of completion to each licensee who is in attendance. You must use the above reference number and include the date of the course when issuing certificates.

There is an online demonstration at www.ContinuingEd.mt.gov that provides instructions on using the web-based reporting program. The instructor or their designee can post the course on our website at www.ContinuingEd.mt.gov immediately using their username and password located in their instructor's approval letter. If you are not the instructor but will be responsible for inputting the roster, please contact the instructor. Remember that the course must be taught by a board-approved instructor.

For additional information on reporting and administering courses in compliance with Board of Realty Regulation approved procedures, please read the Instructor Newsletter, which can be found online at www.realestate.mt.gov : Educ : Forms.

Please copy this letter for your records.
